SOVIET SATELLITES URGE EASTERN NATO

No Holiday for Weather Ships

Christmas and New Year's at sea is no new experience for these veterans. They are men of the weathership Stonetown, which sailed at 8 a.m. yesterday for Station Papa, nearly 1,000 miles from home. They said their goodbyes and season's greetings to their wives and families and then, as the cook got busy with the pork chops, they had a peek at the galley fare. Left to right: Angus Smith, Ed Davies, Steve Nagy, A. C. Brown and Arthur Wilman, all of whom have served four years aboard, and Roy Walker a newcomer of 2½ years' standing. The Christmas turkeys are in cold storage.

With Tear, Smile—Pride, Humility Churchill Accepts World's Tributes

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill celebrated his 80th birthday Tuesday with a tear and a smile—and nary a hint that he has any immediate intention of retiring. He said, in fact, "I hope I still have some services to render."

A surge of emotion swept Britain in tributes to the prime minister.

Everywhere Churchill went on his birthday rounds he was greeted by cheering Britons, many as visibly moved as himself.

Among his colleagues in parliament, where he has served 52 years, Churchill confessed: "I am overwhelmed by two emotions—pride and humility—and I can't tell which dominates."

And as political friends and foe rose to wish him health and many more years, the old Conservative leader filled up and made one of his rare references to his age.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said with tears glistening in his blue eyes. "I am now nearing the end of my journey. I hope I still have some services to render. However that may be and whatever may befall, I am sure I shall never forget the emotion of this day."

For millions of Britons it was a real family birthday party — a day of reminiscences, a day of pride they shared with the man who led them to victory in the Second World War.

The muffled drum beat sounding the dot-dot-dot-dash victory signal of those days echoed again throughout the land. And Churchill beamed giving his two-finger "V" sign.

It was a typical English day for the anniversary of the man hailed by orators as "the greatest living Englishman"—overcast and rainy with the sun peeping through at times.

Churchill visited Buckingham Palace Tuesday night where the Queen, at the regular weekly audience with the prime minister, wished him "many happy returns."

And friends overseas, even some east of the Iron Curtain, poured in money for a birthday fund which officials said may well top a million pounds. Presented with a cheque for £150,000 as "a token on account," the prime minister announced the money will be used to found the "Winston Churchill birthday trust" for museum and charitable purposes.

For the old man who has gained many of the world's greatest honors, the day was "the most memorable occasion of my public life."

Staunch Hydrant Goes It Alone

It didn't stray, it didn't pop up overnight like an iron mushroom, and it's not a hallucination.

The fire hydrant, seven or eight feet out from the curb at Fort and Richmond, is exactly where it has been for 25 or 30 years, City Engineer Cyril Jones said last night, a little indignantly.

The southwest curb of the intersection has left it, not vice versa, and the reconstruction of the corner is not yet complete. But in two or three days the hydrant will be moved away from its startling isolation, and cars will be able to take a gentle curve onto Richmond, instead of a sharp corner.

Meanwhile, Mr. Jones said, the hydrant is barricaded, lighted and out of the way of Fort Street traffic.

Czechs Want Single Command, East Germans Want Army

MOSCOW (AP)—Spurred by the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia Tuesday proposed a combined eight-country Communist military command and East Germany called for an army of its own as Eastern Europe's answer to the prospective rearming of the West Germans.

Czech Premier Vilem Siroky and East German Premier Otto Grotewohl advanced their proposals at the Communist European security conference organized by the Soviet Union in an effort to prevent or delay ratification of the Paris agreements by the Western powers.

REARMED WEST

Those agreements—scheduled for ratification by March 1—would bring a near-sovereign, rearmed West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. A suggestion of a Communist combined military command appeared in a speech Monday by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in opening the conference, to which Communist China has sent observers.

Molotov said ratification by the Western parliaments of the Paris agreements would "demand of the states taking part in this conference to take common measures in the field of organizing their military forces and commands."

"SPECIAL THREAT"

Urging establishment of the combined command, and Eastern version of NATO, Siroky said creation of a West German army would carry a special threat to the borders of Czechoslovakia, Poland and East Germany. "These states should take effective joint measures to secure their own frontiers," he declared.

Grotewohl told the delegates he thoroughly supported the Czech proposal and said it also had the support of Poland and Russia. He made his demand for creation of an East German army conditional upon ratification of the Paris agreements.

Grotewohl again urged negotiation between his government and that of West Germany on reunification adding his regime was willing to consider the Weimar constitution adopted after the First World War as the basis for such talks.

Strike Vote Favored

One hundred employees of six Victoria cartage firms have authorized a strike vote to back demands for a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, two additional paid statutory holidays and a 40-hour week.

Union business agent Robert Milliken said the vote was 90 per cent in favor of a strike ballot.

The strike vote government supervised as requested by the employers, will be conducted in such a way that employees of each company will ballot separately.

This method of voting could mean that even though employees of some firms voted to strike, employees of others could continue working if they opposed strike action.

Firms affected are Alert Service, Central Cartage, Dowell's Cartage, Heaney Cartage, Storker's Storage and McIlwaine's Transfer.

A strike would curtail stove and fuel oil delivery, some food hauling to wholesales, most local transfer business and mail collections.

Ship Sinks in Gale, 25 of Crew Lost

LONDON (Reuters)—Twenty-five men were feared drowned in the gale-swept Atlantic on Tuesday when the 7,373-ton cargo ship Tresillian sank in mountainous seas 44 miles off Cork, southwest Ireland.

The shrieking storm swelled to 58 the toll of dead and missing in four days of gale weather.

The British freighter, carrying a crew of 40, went down in the early morning after an all-night hammering from gales which at times reached 100 miles an hour.

The crew jumped into the churning waters as the ship, which had developed a 30-degree list after taking water into her engine room, plunged to her grave.

The crew clung to rafts, lay slumped in lifeboats or, wearing lifejackets, were thrown about like corks in the heaving seas.

Five ships and a lifeboat raced to the scene in answer to the SOS messages and planes searched the area for survivors.

After several hours' search, 15 survivors and five bodies, including that of Capt. W. J. Winter, had been hauled out of the sea. At least another 12 bodies had been sighted.

The London tanker Liparus had 12 survivors and one body aboard. The British ship Ardglen had three survivors and four dead, including the captain.

Lifeboats put out to sea throughout the day as distress calls came in from ships in the gale-swept seas between England and Ireland.

Inland the gales and torrential rain continued. Hardest hit was the west of England, where water up to five feet deep surged across main roads.

Damage to Genes Is Damage to Race

An invisible, slow-acting, largely undetectable poison may be acting on the human race. This poison consists of the radiations from radioactive materials released by experimental bomb explosions. The danger, it is stressed, is not to individuals, necessarily, but to the race itself. This is the second of six articles in which Thomas R. Henry, science editor, explores the situation.

BY THOMAS R. HENRY

WASHINGTON—The greatest "genetic poisoning of mankind" by atom and hydrogen bombs involves invisible, by and large undetectable, forces working slowly, insidiously—but perhaps inevitably—toward a final chaos. To many there is something semimystical about the elements involved—but they are just as real as the equally invisible atoms and molecules. Their reality has been established by a century of biological research since they first were postulated by the Bohemian monk, Gregor Mendel.

There must be at least an elementary understanding of them, say the prophets of racial doom, before mankind can appreciate its danger.

Presumably most physical forms and functions of both fruit flies and men are regulated by "genes" and combinations of genes. These are invisibly minute particles of protoplasm bound together in chain-like structures. If the nature of one of these genes is altered its influence will be different.

In a human, for example, the influence of a certain combination of genes might activate the physiological process of forming a certain type of blood cell. If the gene is chemically changed this particular type of blood cell will not be formed.

A human being, according to Dr. Herman J. Muller of the University of Indiana, has at least 15,000 genes and probably double that number. There is no way of counting them.

It is known that 30 genes, acting in combination, determine the color of eyes in fruit flies. Double that number may function in determining the eye color of a man.

The genes of the two parents combine to form the gene structure of an individual. A gene from either parent may be dominant or recessive, or partly dominant and partly recessive. If a gene determining some function is dominant, it will determine the process of this function in the offspring, as against a recessive gene for the same function from the other parent. But the offspring still will carry in his germ plasm the recessive gene. It will remain in the germ plasm stream of this hereditary

Adulterer Jailed In Salem

SALEM, Mass. (CP)—Arthur G. Jackson, 23, of Haverhill, was convicted and given a maximum three-year sentence today on charges of adultery with beautiful Lorraine Clark before and after she murdered her husband.

Superior Judge Charles Fairhurst said the handsome black-haired shoe clerk could "take half measure of responsibility" for the murder "which wrecked" a family of three small children.

"It is obvious he wormed his way into the affections of Lorraine, regardless of the children, regardless of his friend," the judge said. Jackson and the murder victim, Melvin W. Clark, Jr., 29, were close friends and formerly worked together at a Newburyport factory.

Jackson was sentenced at the end of a three-hour trial before Judge Fairhurst who only yesterday sentenced the tall, chestnut haired widow to life imprisonment for second degree murder.

Regal Pomp Attends Opening of Session

LONDON (CP) — The Queen opened the fourth session of the 40th British Parliament Tuesday with the outline of a modest program of domestic legislation.

Promises of better pensions and roads were emphasized in the 10-minute speech from the Throne. Other government proposals covered increased financial stability, freer trade, continued support for NATO and the UN, and closer harmony with the United States.

The state opening held all its traditional splendor. The House of Lords was packed with brightly-robed peers, their furred and bejeweled ladies and sombre-suited commoners. The Queen wore a white and silver lace gown and, for the third time in her life, the heavy imperial state crown. She was escorted by the Duke of Edinburgh who was wearing the uniform of an admiral of the fleet.

MP Calls Social Credit 'Un-Canadian, Dishonest'

CALGARY—The Social Credit party was branded "un-Canadian, undemocratic and dishonest" Tuesday night by John Decore, Liberal MP for Vegreville.

In a talk to members of the Calgary Liberal Association, he charged that various religious radio broadcasts and speaking tours conducted by Premier Manning, and statements made about them by Social Credit leaders, "showed the party was trying to use religious feeling as a means of gaining political power."

The methods employed by "the very prominent Social Credit leaders in Alberta and elsewhere are, to say the least, dishonest," Mr. Decore said.

"It would shock a lot of Albertans if they stopped to consider that Social Credit advocates the overthrow of many of the pillars of democracy," he added. These included majority rule, secret ballot, the party system of government and freedom of the press and courts.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

AT first I blamed my little boy for my stomach-ache. He has just invented a new game, which consists of climbing on the arm of the chair, launching himself into space and landing with both feet in the middle of Daddy's stomach.

It was just after my little boy had finished a brisk round of stomach-jumping that I developed a severe pain in the mid-section.

* * *

I tried quitting work and lying down on the couch. In the past I have found rest a good remedy for several ailments, including fatigue.

I have noticed that if I come home with an evening job which I find distasteful, fatigue sets in at once.

So I try a brief rest, and read a magazine for a time. No use. The knowledge of the job to be done keeps gnawing at me.

"Won't try to do this job tonight," I tell my wife after a time. "I'm too tired. I'll go to bed and get up early in the morning."

As soon as I have made that decision, the fatigue falls from me in an instant, and I feel that I can do wonders. I am at once clear-eyed, alert, ready for anything—except that job, I mean. So I read late, get up late, and postpone the job until the following night, when the same process begins again, if I don't watch myself.

* * *

Well, resting on the couch may be a good cure for fatigue, but it doesn't cure stomach-ache. Not the kind of stomach-ache I had, anyway. Even when I decided I was too sick to go on working, it didn't help.

I decided, too, that it wasn't the little boy's fault. A little boy's feet can do only a limited amount of damage—although I must confess the limits are fairly wide.

This stomach-ache felt as though someone had forced me to swallow a balloon, then inflated it and pumped it full of cement, which was just beginning to harden.

* * *

My wife had felt slightly ill on the previous day, and at that time I had given her a stern lecture on bearing pain stoically.

Now I found myself calling for hot drinks and cold drinks, and blankets and medicines. I hardly recognized my own voice.

* * *

I staggered to work and learned that an epidemic of upset stomachs was sweeping through Victoria. Half a dozen people in the office had suffered from it. The ailment, whatever it may be, is supposed to run its course in two days.

If I can only find the person who breathed his germs on me, I'll make sure he gets my next cold in the nose—even if I have to hire a man to hold him by the collar while I sneeze at him.

Garden Notes

Blazing Hearth Worth Trouble

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I am afraid the Chesnut family belongs to that peculiar and old-fashioned breed which prefers an open fire of blazing logs in the fireplace to the cleanliness and convenience of an electric heater. We have two big fireplaces—one in the living room and one in the rumpus room—which make a lot of work, but I like it that way.

I take quite a razzing from the boys at the club over this peculiarity, for they can't understand why I put up with the dirt, the ashes, and the soot of a log fire when I could secure the same amount of radiant heat by simply pushing a button. I believe they think I don't have all my marbles, but the fact remains that, to me, an electric fireplace is as synthetic as a rubber flapjack, and I don't get any kick out of it unless there are live flames curling around a big log.

PEONY TRICK

What has all this got to do with gardening, you say? Simply this: Last year, we had the biggest and healthiest goldurned peonies in our neighborhood, and I believe they flowered so enthusiastically because they were fed regularly with the wood ashes from our two fireplaces, plus a little bone meal. When the ground is workable, the ashes are scratched into the soil around the plants, while in mid-winter, we just dump them on the surface for the rain to wash the potash and other minerals down to the roots below.

The success of this technique has been so marked that nowadays, on one of those borderline nights when it is a toss-up whether the comfort of a fire is worth the effort of hauling in an armful of logs, we usually settle for a fire purely for the sake of manufacturing a new batch of ashes for the peonies!

APPLES, TOO

Then there was the case of the reluctant apple.

When we moved into our present home, we found a beautiful apple tree in the garden, and while it appeared perfectly healthy and put on lots of growth every year, there was nary the sign of a blossom in the spring, and, of course, no apples.

There are a lot of things you can do for unfruitful trees, most of the techniques consisting of scaring the trees out of seven years' growth by hacking at the roots or cutting a ring in the bark. In the case of our reluctant tree, however, the exuberant growth of leaves and shoots led me to believe the trouble lay in too rich a diet—too much manure in the planting site. We decided to try balancing the excess of nitrogen with big doses of wood ashes.

Once again our fireplaces were raided, and once again we hit the jackpot, for the tree was covered last year with blossom, and we had far more fruit than we could use.

YET AGAIN

Last week, our fireplaces served the cause of horticulture once again, and in rather a unique way. My wife wanted some coarse bits of charcoal to mix with the soil of her African violets, while I wanted a few pieces about the size of marbles to place under the gravel in a bowl of paper-white narcissus to keep the water sweet.

I think we tried just about everywhere in town to buy the stuff, but we just couldn't find what we wanted.

The charcoal briquets we use for grilling steaks on the outdoor barbecue were held together with oil or tar—that wouldn't do. The pet shops had powdered charcoal for canaries and budgies, but it was too fine for our purpose. Finally, I remembered how we manufactured charcoal in a retort in a high school physics class many years ago.

We took an empty baking powder tin, filled it with hardwood spools of thread—without the thread, of course—and put the lid on. We punched a few holes in the lid to let the gas escape, and threw the tin into the fireplace to cook. Pretty soon, blazing jets of gas were squirting out of the holes, and when we took the tin out of the ashes the next day, we had a canful of the cleanest, sweetest charcoal you ever saw.

Study Set On Repairs

Saanich refusal to repair a waterworks control house at Beaver Lake will be studied by city council's public works committee.

The building and control equipment was damaged earlier this year by vandals. The public works committee considered a move to demolish the building but decided to give Saanich council an opportunity of repairing the structure since it controls the flow of water from Beaver Lake to Colquitz Creek and protects some farmland in the area.

Decision of Saanich council has been referred by city council yesterday to its public works committee.

Invisible Genes Carry Racial Damage Forever

line for generations, possibly forever. Perhaps it will never become manifest. Perhaps, sooner or later, two parents will have the same recessive gene and the dominant one will disappear from their offspring.

This, Dr. Muller says, is an oversimplification, although widely taught in genetics courses. It is quite unlikely, he believes, that there are many absolutely recessive genes. As long as one of them remains in the germ plasm its exerts some influence—perhaps one-20th the effect of a dominant. This means [illegible] recessive gene which happens to be detrimental is not quite as well off so far as the particular purpose it serves is concerned, as if he didn't have it.

Everybody's genes are constantly undergoing changes, or "mutations." It is a general, although by no means absolute rule that disadvantageous changes in one parent will be recessives—that is, a gene of the normal parent will take over control in the offspring. But the recessive is still there, a snake in the grass, ready to assert itself when an opportunity arises, and it almost always will assert some influence.

The hereditary effects may not appear at all for several generations. If the mutations are immediately lethal, these may never appear. Thus, Dr. Muller points out, the study of the first generation offspring of individuals who got heavy doses of radiation in the bombings of Nagasaki and Hiroshima has very little meaning. The mutations caused in the germ plasm would be largely recessive. No great increase in "monsters," or otherwise obviously abnormal people, can be expected in a generation. But there may be more of them in the still unborn second generation and still more in the third and fourth. The recessives have been added permanently to the genetic heritage of mankind. There is no way of getting rid of them arbitrarily.

It is generally agreed that about 99 per cent of mutations in men, or fruit flies, are harmful. Some of them are only mildly harmful. These are known as "sub-lethals." There are enormous numbers of these, says Dr. Muller. They are in the germ plasm of every human being. They often affect only obscure mechanisms of the enormously complicated process of living.

They are responsible, Dr. Muller believes, for many of the degenerations which [illegible] in later years. Failures in [illegible] some sort of metabolism [illegible] of functioning of [illegible] physiological [illegible] and the like.

B.C.'s Greetings Sent To British Leader

A greeting from Premier W. A. C. Bennett was sent overseas yesterday along with hundreds of others to Sir Winston Churchill on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

Here is the text of the premier's greeting:

"On this happy and historic day the premier and members of the executive council of the Province of British Columbia extend to you, Sir Winston, their sincere felicitations and express the hope that the years to come will be filled with good health."

The message was sent out at noon yesterday, which meant it would arrive at 10 Downing Street in London at about 9 p.m. British time.

One Finds He Can't Run

New Candidates Appear

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Walter Thomson, a T. Eaton Company department manager, announced yesterday that he will be a candidate for one of two city seats open on the Greater Victoria School Board in the December 9 civic elections.

Meanwhile, Norman Nichols, who announced Monday that he would be a school board candidate in the city, discovered yesterday that he can't run in Victoria because he lives in Saanich.

The School Act stipulates a person must live in the municipality in order to represent it on a school board. The Municipal Act, on the other hand, permits anyone to run for municipal council providing he owns property in that municipality.

Mr. Nichols was under the impression that Municipal Act stipulations applied to school board candidates as well as council candidates.

VERY DISAPPOINTED

He said he is "very disappointed."

"I own property in Victoria and in Esquimalt," he said. "But I can't run for school board anywhere because I happen to room and board in Saanich."

There is no doubt, however, about Mr. Thomson's qualifications.

Mr. Thomson, who lives at 1310 Richardson, has been a Victoria resident for 28 years. He worked for David Spencer Ltd. for 22 years before the firm was purchased by Eaton's in 1948.

Born in Scotland, he is a veteran of the Imperial Army in the First World War.

REPAY COMMUNITY

Mr. Thomson is a member of Eaton's Veterans' Association and was a president of its predecessor, Spencer's Remnants.

He has three sons, two of them graduates of the University of British Columbia in civil engineering.

"I feel I would like to, in a way, repay the community for what my family has received," said Mr. Thomson.

Other candidates for the two city seats on the school board are Trustee Mrs. E. M. Maunsell, seeking re-election, and William H. Williams.

First candidate in the Oak Bay municipal election, C. H. G. "Charlie" Mann, 2833 Burdick, filed nomination papers yesterday at Oak Bay municipal hall.

COUNCIL SEAT

A retired chartered accountant, he is a past district governor of Kiwanis International and has been active for many years in the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club.

He is seeking a seat on Oak Bay council.

Clr. J. W. Maltby and Clr. Patrick Birley, whose terms expire next month, are expected to seek re-election. Clr. George Gregory, MLA, will not seek re-election.

Latest city council candidates to file nomination papers are Austin Curtis, transportation company executive, Ald. Arthur Dowell, cartage company executive, and Elgin Neish, fishermen's union official.

B.C. Chamber Asks Equalization Delay

BY RAY BAINES

The B.C. Chamber of Commerce yesterday asked the provincial government to delay the assessment equalization plan at least a year and drop the machinery tax.

Other points in a lengthy brief presented to the provincial cabinet yesterday urged:

1. Co-operation with federal authorities in the development of hydro-electric resources with preference given to Canadian companies.

2. Amendment of the present federal-provincial tax agreement to give B.C. a larger share of federal tax revenue collected in B.C.

A delegation of the B.C. chamber headed by president J. T. Harvey met Premier W. A. C. Bennett and his cabinet yesterday for about an hour. Mr. Harvey said after the meeting that the chamber had been given "a very cordial hearing" and the cabinet had promised to take under review at least some of the 34 points in the brief.

WOULD BE UNFAIR

In asking for a delay on the assessment equalization plan, the chamber said that if assessment changes are made by the end of the year "not only will the goal of equalization between communities not be realized but that in the larger centres there may well be inequities between taxpayers themselves."

In opposing the new machinery tax, the chamber says it will affect only organized territory and it is therefore discriminatory, "and will tend to discourage modernizing of plant and machinery."

One resolution deals with hydro-electric power resources and while it does not specifically mention the Kaiser Dam deal it suggests accord with federal authorities who are opposed to the agreement.

CANADA FIRST

The chamber urges that provincial and federal authorities work together in development of power resources on a long-term basis and that "preference be given to a policy whereby Canadian interests would install and own hydro-electric facilities and dams in Canada . . ."

The chamber supports Premier Bennett's view that the federal-provincial tax agreements leave B.C. on the short side.

On labor relations the chamber says the Labor Relations Act "should always ensure that a properly conducted secret ballot should precede any strike."

The group also says "the right of every individual to elect and follow the vocation of his choice regardless of his membership or non-membership in a labor union or employees' organization, must be ensured by law."

HIGHWAY PLAN

One resolution asks establishment of a highway planning board to plot future highway development since "one of the great needs in all sections of B.C. is for highways suited to modern vehicles and increasing traffic."

Other resolutions ask the government to maintain access roads in usable condition to aid farmers, to establish parks near highways and to build roads in remote areas.

The chamber also asks that the government explore the possibility of developing Garibaldi as a national park, take steps to aid farm settlement in the province, and encourage and ensure the early construction of a gas pipeline from the Peace River to the Coast.

One resolution reiterates an earlier chamber belief that "the alternative voting system in single-member ridings brings about in greater measure than any other in use in the Commonwealth, the election of the candidates most acceptable to the people . . ."

Policy Two-Faced

WINNIPEG (CP) — A university professor Tuesday charged governments with inconsistency in the drinking problem.

Dr. D. W. Penner, assistant professor of pathology at the University of Manitoba, said governments on one hand derive a large part of their income from the sale of liquor and on the other hand spend money to educate the public about the evils of drink.

Dr. Penner spoke at the annual conference on alcohol problems, sponsored by the Canadian Temperance Federation in co-operation with the Manitoba Temperance Alliance.

Taking the floor during a discussion on alcohol and road traffic, Dr. Penner said it is the moderate drinker who is dangerous; usually people who are dead drunk do themselves or others little harm.

Semenick Hearing Adjourned

VANCOUVER (CP) — Preliminary hearing of William Semenick, 50-year-old former convict wounded in a park drive underworld shooting, was adjourned for one week Tuesday.

Semenick is charged with obstructing justice because he refused to identify his assailants.

Detective William Morphett testified that he knows who tried to kill Semenick. The detective did not name the would-be assassin.

Asked by defense counsel Thomas Hurley if he knew who the gunman was, Morphett said: "Yes, I know who shot him."

The detective said Semenick repeatedly refused to give police any information on the attack.

Mr. Hurley argued that maintaining silence is no crime.

"My submission is that it is no crime to remain silent to a police officer," he said.

Magistrate Oscar Orr said he would decide in a week whether to commit Semenick for trial in a higher court.

Det. Morphett quoted Semenick as saying when asked to identify his attackers:

"I can't tell you. I'm on one side of the fence. You're on the other."

The detective said Semenick described one of two suspects picked up as "just a stupid kid. Why don't you get the higher-ups?"

Both men were released because of a lack of evidence.

The cubit, the length of a man's forearm, is one of the earliest forms of measurement.

Presentation Marks Long Rail Service

Harry Bourke Nash, 2368 Estevan, will be honored with a presentation on his retirement today after 41 years' service with the E & N Railway.

Mr. Nash is timekeeper and locomotive fireman's clerk. He was born in Battleford, Sask. in 1889 and worked in a bank in McLeod, Alta., before coming to Vancouver Island. He joined the E & N at Wellington in 1913 and has been with the line ever since.

He served overseas with the CEF and was wounded during the First World War.

The presentation will be made at a gathering of shopmen, train crews and general office employees at the E & N shops on Johnson Street at 1.45 p.m. today.

'Canadian Canada' Urged for Tourists

OTTAWA (CP) — The ninth federal-provincial tourist conference wound up its two-day sitting Tuesday with a ministerial message to keep Canada Canadian.

Resources Minister Lesage told the delegates from every province that tourists from Canada's biggest market — the United States—don't come to see Americanism here.

They come to see something different and they should be shown things Canadian, served typical Canadian food and told of Canadian folklore.

He and other delegates deplored the practice of some tourist carterers of flying the American flag and putting American names on their establishments in an effort to attract American tourists.

Keeping Canada Canadian, Mr. Lesage said, should be the slogan for the 1955 tourist year.

R. M. Bullock of the trans-Canada highway division of the public works department said the 5,000-mile coast-to-coast highway, started in 1950 as a joint federal-provincial project on a split-cost basis, was progressing but was only about one-third complete.

Women at Meeting Agree

More Skirts Need Of Council Table

A campaign to place "more skirts around the council table" met a rousing reception here last night.

Speakers were aldermanic candidates Miss Jane Hall and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Maunsell and Mrs. W. W. McGill seeking re-election as Greater Victoria School Board trustees.

Chairman was Mrs. Norma K. Smith.

An audience of about 80 women attended the meeting sponsored by the city's Business and Professional Women's Club.

W. A. Scott and two unidentified males sat in on the session at the back of the women's club on Government Street, declining the opportunity to raise a male voice even at question time.

EXERCISE VOTE

Chairman Mrs. Smith urged the audience and all women to exercise their vote and help place "more skirts around the council table."

Alderman candidate Mrs. Wilson said she is against secrecy in council activity because it breeds suspicion, but added that she feels at times no purpose is served by "broadcasting" certain information.

"I believe in amalgamation and will do all I can to bring it about," she told a questioner who asked her views on a Victoria, Oak Bay-Esquimalt-Saanich merger.

She said she would work for the smooth running of the Gorge Nursing Home at the lease possible cost to taxpayers; conversion of the Gorge into a playground and beauty spot, and for more parks to the north of the city.

"Women hold 80 per cent of the world's wealth, or control the men who have the money," said Miss Hall, who is also seeking a council seat.

She told the audience that economy will be her watchword if elected, and she urged women to get out and vote.

Miss Hall told a questioner she believed the municipalities should have representation on the library board.

Mrs. McGill pointed out that more classrooms will end the shift system in operation in some district schools, and asked the audience to vote for the school loan by-law referendum.

Mrs. Maunsell said some people claimed gymnasiums were frills, but she pointed out that physical training was a necessary part of school curriculums as laid down by the education department, and that they are always in use at all schools.

Results of the weekly play of Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club are: east-west pairs, T. B. Waddington and J. Lucas, 1; L. Stewart and J. L. Jones, 2; Mrs. E. Cleworth and W. Simpson-Baikie, 3; north-south pairs, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Duprau, 1; R. F. Grieve and V. Umphrey, 2; Mr. and Mrs. Heathfield, 3.

NEW ESSO EXTRA WINTER GASOLINE

prevents carburetor icing and gas line freezing

Does your car stall when idling? Research now proves a major cause of this is ice in the carburetor and gas line! Yes, ice! Even at above-freezing temperatures—in fact up to 55°F—ice forms. To overcome this, Imperial Oil developed NEW Esso Extra with special anti-icing qualities that prevent stalling. This new gasoline also prevents gas line freezing . . . you no longer need to add remedies to the gas tank.

If you stall, don't blame your engine until you try new ESSO EXTRA

NEW ESSO EXTRA PREVENTS STALLING DUE TO CARBURETOR ICING

As you start your car, air is sucked through the carburetor and gasoline enters the air stream. As the gasoline evaporates, it chills the carburetor. With other gasolines moisture in the air condenses on this chilled metal and freezes into ice; if the humidity is high and the temperature between 55° and 28°F. When idling, the ice forms a bridge between throttle plate and carburetor wall, the flow of the fuel mixture (see arrow, left) is stopped . . . the car stalls. New Esso Extra prevents the formation of ice from the moisture in the air. Provided your car has no mechanical defects that cause stalls, you get smooth, trouble-free performance.

B.C. Forestry Inquiry

THE provincial government's move towards a royal commission to inquire into British Columbia's forest conservation policies, management licenses, working circles and the developed use of wood derivatives is timely, and has drawn public approval since the announcement was made by Premier Bennett. It is to be hoped that Chief Justice Sloan, who has been asked to conduct the inquiry, will be free to do so. No better choice could be made, or one that would be more in keeping with the spirit of the suggested review. Nor, given favorable conditions, need there be undue delay in the process of inquiry and resultant action on the basis of such a report.

Fundamental to the issue is the rapidly changing character of the province's lumber industry; concerned each day more closely with wood derivatives and the more highly processed forms of lumber manufacturing. The initiation of a forest conservation policy a few years ago was a progressive step. The first coding of the requirements into law was sincerely intended. If here and there time has produced unexpected pressure points that could not have been foreseen it is the path of wisdom to review the plan and to see in what fashion, if any, it may need changing. Such a revision now might mean in the long run surer and more productive operation of the whole scheme.

Leaving contention over individual details of the forest management plan aside, there is little real dispute over the aim of the new system. It is to perpetuate British Columbia's softwood stocks by the integration of cutting operations and progressive elimination of unnecessary waste. To accomplish that object with fairness to all concerned and with hardship to none is the real consideration of the moment and, of course, the core of any such inquiry.

The Courts Must Be Free

IN their zeal to accomplish reforms which they believe to be for the public good, well-meaning citizens sometimes step a little out of line. The British Columbia Automobile Association appears to have done so in its request to Attorney-General Bonner that he instruct or ask police magistrates throughout the province to impose more severe punishment on drunken and impaired drivers. Mr. Bonner has indicated unofficially that he will not accede to the association's request.

While there is much public concern over the increasing numbers of cases of impaired driving prosecuted in the courts, Mr. Bonner's attitude towards the Automobile Association's recommendation is the proper one for a provincial attorney-general to take. The request itself shows a misconception of the authority vested in an attorney-general. As Mr. Bonner has pointed out, it is "a dangerous notion to expect an attorney-general to issue blanket instructions to magistrates or courts concerning sentences."

It would be entirely wrong for anyone, even the minister of justice, to attempt to lay down a pattern for the courts in the determination of punishments. The various statutes (in this instance the Criminal Code of Canada) set out the minimum and maximum sentences which may be imposed, but it is for the courts alone to decide the degree of punishment which fits each particular case within the limits which Parliament has set. Judges and magistrates have been known to err on the side of leniency or undue severity, and machinery is provided to correct such mistakes; but it is invoked only in specific cases and does not empower the authority to whom appeals are taken to issue instructions to the courts in general.

The discretionary power of a magistrate or judge is one of the fundamental principles of justice in this country, and no court could carry out its duty fairly and impartially if it were under pressure or influence from outside—the attorney-general or anyone else. The BCAA is not the only group which seems to have misunderstood the system in this respect.

The Home Is the Core

YOUTH invariably comes in for a lot of criticism, the faults of the few being enlarged at the expense of the many. It has always been thus of course, just as rising generations have never managed to satisfy their elders. Basically there is no difference between them; the sons are of the genre of their fathers, a fact too often forgotten. That being so it is a mistake to dwell too much on the weakness of youth and ignore its inherent strength. Had the latter not predominated throughout the ages there could not have been the elders to make their complaints today.

A pat on the back came the way of young people last week when faith in them was reaffirmed at a meeting here by the retiring commissioner of the Salvation Army, an organization dedicated to work among human beings of all ages and of all climes. Youth has the intelligence and outlook to solve its own problems, he said, given the initial guidance which it has a right to expect. This includes the principles symbolized by the church, the verities which have stood the test of time and are the basis of orderly living everywhere. Given this direction there is no more need to fear the future of youth than there was in their time the future of its parents.

There is a reminder here for elders as well as young people. Youth is a reflection of the generation that goes before it, and example must be added to precept if it is to live up to proper ideals and expectations. As the home is so will be its inmates. The family that lives in amity and good will, that subscribes to the principles stressed by the SA commissioner, can scarcely do other than influence its younger members for good. The core of human society is and always has been the home; there above all lies the secret of youthful behavior, in this as in all previous ages.

Loss to Journalism

THE death at Calgary on Sunday of John David Southam, one of the young and able members of the long-established publishing firm, will be regretted sincerely throughout newspaper circles in Canada. The late Mr. Southam, only 45 years of age, was publisher of The Calgary Herald. He was widely known across Canada in connection with his service on the directorates and committees of The Canadian Press, the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association and other groups identified with journalism. To such deliberations he brought a progressive and a fertile mind, besides being well liked for a sincere and cheerful personality.

In Calgary and Alberta to which the late Mr. Southam had devoted his energies with ability and loyalty his removal will leave a gap. There were few more balanced exponents of western thought in its relationship to Canadian matters as a whole. His death will deprive Canadian journalism of an informed and active worker, and the Prairies of a loyal friend.

Interpreting the News

Dulles Answers Knowland

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE Eisenhower administration has replied to those who want tougher tactics toward Red China.

State Secretary Dulles responded in a radio-television broadcast on Monday night: The United States will try to use every peaceful means, before going any further, to get along with the Communists.

* * *

"Peaceful" was the keynote of his talk, although he said the United States would "react vigorously" to provocation. He did not say what he meant by reacting "vigorously."

Last January Dulles spoke of "massive retaliation" against an aggressor. Monday night, although firm, he was more restrained.

He took cracks at the Russians and Red Chinese. And, just as in January, he emphasized the vast power of the U.S. and its ability to meet any attack. But he added:

"This does not mean that any local war would automatically be turned into a general war with atomic bombs being dropped all over the map."

* * *

This was a little more detailed insight into his thinking than he provided in January when his failure to explain in some detail what he meant brought him criticism here and abroad.

Dulles' speech Monday night was made at a time when the U.S. is protesting the imprisonment of 13 Americans as spies by the Chinese Communists.

Without specifying this in his talk, Dulles called the Chinese "provocative." But if the Eisenhower administration has any plans for freeing those Americans beyond protesting their imprisonment, Dulles did not disclose them.

William Knowland, the Republicans' Senate leader and therefore one of President Eisenhower's chief captains in Congress, has attempted to tell Eisenhower and Dulles, apparently without consulting either, how to treat the Red Chinese for jailing the Americans.

* * *

He proposes a blockade of the China coast—an act which might lead to war—with the help of the country's United Nations Allies if they'd go along, but without them if necessary.

Dulles answered Knowland directly, without naming him, by repudiating his two proposals of blockade and go-it-alone, at least for the present.

"As a final offer, I'll give you time to reconsider"

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

AN hour ago I listened to a tapestry of Churchillian life which sought to compress into 60 minutes the epic march of 80 years. What wonderful magic is the modern process of recording. What would we not give for instance to hear the voice of Napoleon, or Lincoln, or some other of the glittering figures who light the pages of history? Wonderful to think that generations yet unborn may hear for themselves the rich ripe tones of the man whose birthday, it seems, all the world is celebrating.

That fact itself is the foot-rule of Churchill. In the broadcast to which I have just listened Herbert Marshall asked, rhetorically, how does one measure so singular a being; by what standard is he to be appraised. This universal celebration of his 80th birthday is the answer—a tribute unique in that it takes a form usually reserved for great men after they are dead.

* * *

Practically everything about Churchill is unique. He is a throwback, as Sir Anthony Eden implied, to the days when a man of talent might be a man of all the talents, not the specialized and therefore constricted being of modern development. Alastair Cooke in his two minutes of the tapestry compared him to Leonardo da Vinci, and certainly the Churchillian genius has flowered in a dozen different mediums. He may not have been able to learn Latin as a schoolboy but he has illuminated every other realm he entered.

Yet as I listened to his voice in what was surely his own finest hour as well as his country's, retained for posterity by the magic I mentioned, it was Winston Churchill the man rather than Winston Churchill the world-renowned statesman who summoned the rush of grateful response. It is the humanity of Churchill, I suspect, that takes him to our hearts, the foibles that endear him so that we smile with affection when we see his picture: the hats, the cigars, the brick-laying, the quips and jests, the countenance still cherubic for all of its 80 years—"All new babies look like me," as he said on one occasion. All these, the rich plenitude that reveal his human character, are the lodestones of our good will.

His words thrill or move us to tears; his capacities fill us with awe; his energy commands our envy; his courage steels us to stern resolve; yet it is the gusto of his personality that makes him kin with each one of us.

It was impossible, of course, listening again to the voice of 1940, not to recall those days of passion and high adventure when each time Winston Churchill spoke to the world—and most of the world listened then as to its undoing it had not listened in the years before—one rose from the radio feeling taller and stronger for the savor and comfort of his indomitable spirit. "I am an old man now," came his words an hour ago, "but I will try to do my duty still whenever it calls me."

How marvelous has been his duty and how handsomely he has done it. These lines are written before Sir Winston Churchill's birthday; that notable event will have come and gone when they appear. But this column would fain record nevertheless that it has been a privilege for one to live in the years of his greatness.

Reports from Ottawa

HOW far the federal government can or should go in helping the unemployed will be one of the big issues in this country during the next few months.

A lot, of course, depends on how serious the unemployment problem becomes. The government is optimistic. While Prime Minister St. Laurent said a week ago that "the situation is still not satisfactory," a week earlier he predicted there will be less unemployment this winter than last.

The unions say we're in for a rougher time than a year ago. The Canadian Congress of Labor expects 50 per cent more jobless. CCF leader Coldwell "doesn't agree" with the PM's optimism. Conservative Party president George Hees censures the government for failure to check unemployment.

Ontario wants Ottawa to help any municipalities faced with heavy relief charges this fall and winter, harking back to the theory of federal responsibility for the unemployed put forward by the Sirois commission 15 years ago. Ottawa has never admitted this responsibility, although it offered to accept it in 1945, in its original proposals on the renting of provincial tax rights. The provinces turned down the federal proposals, and Ottawa dropped the relief offer.

* * *

Labor Minister Gregg has announced, and Prime Minister St. Laurent has repeated, the government's intention to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act in the next session of Parliament. No details have been announced. Nevertheless, the amendments will provide (1) higher benefits; (2) a longer minimum period of entitlement to benefits, and (3) a shorter maximum period of entitlement.

The situation is this: the unemployment insurance fund is at $892,000,000, up $10,000,000 since March, but down from the high of $921,000,000 last December. This money is to provide insurance for more than 3,200,000 people, nearly three-quarters of all wage-earners.

The amount an insured person may draw each week depends on his contributions, and thus his scale of earnings during the previous six months. The maximum benefit paid is only $17.10 a week for single persons and $24 a week for those with one or more dependents. The whole scale of benefits will be increased next seession.

* * *

A person becomes entitled to benefits after he has worked for 180 days in an insured occupation at a pay rate of not more than $4,800 a year. If 180 days is all he works, he may draw insurance only six weeks. If he worked longer, he may draw for longer periods up to a maximum of 52 weeks for those who have contributed to the fund for five years or more.

The six weeks will be increased—maybe doubled or tripled. But to avoid too great a drain on the fund the maximum 52 weeks will be cut down, perhaps to 40.

Not even the government knows yet how much the scale of payments or the length of entitlement will be increased. The cabinet is awaiting the report of an actuarial study of suggested changes. The study will determine what increases can safely be made without jeopardizing the fund's solvency and the bought-and-paid-for protection of millions of workers who may or may not have to draw on it this winter.

Save That Word

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

IT'S about time for Americans and citizens of other free countries to make a stand in defense of their language. The Communists have been taking it away piecemeal by corrupting the meaning of noble words so that honorable people become reluctant to use them.

First they tried to steal the word "democracy" or "democratic" by applying it to their police-state dictatorships. So, too, with the term "people's" by claiming to rule for people who have not elected them.

Then they tried to copyright the word "peace" and make it apply only to a deadly silence imposed from Moscow. Then under a breath of fear men hesitated almost to favor progress lest they be called "progressive," or to be generous lest it be whispered they were "liberals."

Now the members of an American Legion in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, have voted to surrender the word "comrade." No longer will it be used in business greetings or as a greeting among friends. It has become "un-American"! But has it?

Is there no longer camaraderie among veterans of two wars? Are there no longer comrades in arms? Has comradeship in civic undertakings succumbed to doubts about one's neighbor?

Comrades, unite! Let's save that word, "comrade," and all the other words for high ideas that the Reds would try to steal or tarnish!

IN TRANSIT

The public transit systems of big cities inevitably acquire personalities of their own. The Montreal system, for example, has a spirit of timelessness, an aura of regret for the passing of a more leisurely age, a sense of surprise at the fact of its own existence. The Toronto system, on the other hand, goes its way with a sort of implacable belief in its own efficiency, in its divine right to do what it will with its patrons—an attitude perfectly illustrated by a sign in the Toronto subway, which says briefly "Trespassers will be electrocuted."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

SO MUCH is being published about psychiatry these days in newspapers, magazines, slicks, movies and even in the 5-cent comic books, that it is little wonder large numbers of formerly cheerful people are going about with uneasy expressions.

The principal thing the psychiatrists fail to impress on their startled public is that the brain is an organ, the same as the liver or lungs. Due to the self-importance that has characterized the human race for the past few thousand years, there has existed for a long time a widespread impression that the brain is something mysterious and special, something semi-supernatural, like the soul or the spirit. But it is just meat, like the rest of us.

Like the liver, it can be off-color for a few days. Or, like the liver, it can be diseased and cause us no end of trouble. With regard to everything but our brains, we are all willing to admit that our health has its ups and downs. Nobody is continuously healthy or continually ill. Yet we hold the curious opinion that with regard to our brain we are either sane or insane. The brain deserves no more special treatment than our stomachs or our kidneys. Like them, we can overstuff it with the wrong food and drink, like them the brain can perhaps catch cold or pick up a flu germ, and be queasy for a few days.

The same bloodstream that carries bugs to our intestines or our hearts goes right on around the merry-go-round through our brains, all in a matter of a minute or two. Yet we like to imagine our brains as being walled off, in a sort of holy-of-holies, apart from our more vulgar gadgets.

A man can have a corn on his toe and not feel unhealthy. But bad temper, folly, depression, pig-headedness, droopy spirits, anxiety, morbidity—nobody supposes that these may be due to a corn on the brain. But why not?

Poor Flea

(From The Times, London)

ONCE a traditional enemy is laid low our sentiments towards him undergo a change; hatred gives way to compassion. After all he was an honest foeman who played the game according to his lights and we are sorry to see him brought down to this.

So there is a moment of something like sadness in hearing from an eminent naturalist in Vienna that the man-eating flea is almost extinct. He has become scare even in the Balkans, which had been a "paradise for fleas." Possibly someone, who served in the Salvation Army and was kindly entertained in a Macedonian village, will confirm this last statement. He had always had doubts whether his assailants in the night had been, as was alleged, merely ants.

There may have been little to say for the flea, but now, in the hour of his downfall, we are tempted to choose him "for encomium as a change." In the first place he can, in the modern idiom, do his stuff. It is all very well to speak of some trifling discomfort as a mere flea-bite, but he can tickle. Then for numberless years he has been a source of humor. If John Leech could not have drawn a family rather lumpy and bumpy in the face, having suffered severely in their first night at seaside lodging house, the world would have been the poorer. The milder of us have ventured not unsuccessfully on a joke about a flea even if we veiled him as pulex irritans.

A first glance at this news from Vienna may have caused us to exaggerate its tragedy.

Knowing that "a reasonable amount of fleas is good fer a dog—keeps him from broodin' over bein' a dog mebbe," we have perhaps pitied the dog. We may have thought that life would be very, very dull without scratching, than which there is no better exercise for the hind leg. If we did, that was our lamentable ignorance; science is apparently still trying to discover how to wipe out the dog-eating flea. Our flea is the man-eater, a title which seems to put him on a proud level with the tiger.

We must not forget moreover that the flea is a fine athlete. We may never have actually watched an Olympic contest between the fleas of all nations nor found any exact records in the books of reference, but we know that he has an immense reputation as a jumper. In Hans Anderson's story we are told that he jumped so high that nobody could see him and so the spectators said he had not jumped at all, but this was scandalous and untrue.

How dreadful that such a gift should be lost to the world! It seems that some mysterious pestilence has wiped out all the fleas even as another is destroying the poor rabbits. Eheu fugaces.

City Will Remove Sidewalk Hazards

The city will remove any hazards on sidewalks on the west side of Douglas Street between Superior Street and Dallas Road, City Engineer Cyril Jones said yesterday.

If owners want the present walks replaced with permanent concrete they may apply any time to have the work done by local improvement, the city engineer added.

Meanwhile, he continued, streets and sidewalks are being cleaned as quickly as possible by public works crews.

A Douglas Street resident complained last week that lack of adequate sidewalks on Douglas, between Superior and Dallas, is creating a hazard, especially in wet weather.

For a number of years, the city engineer explained, all new sidewalk and curb work in residential areas has been requested by property owners affected and paid for by them as local improvement projects.

Work is financed by the city and paid for over a 15-year period by property owners directly served by the improvements, he said.

Impassioned Appeals Feature Censure Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—The last full day of debate in the McCarthy censure row ended Tuesday night with impassioned appeals and counter-appeals in an all but empty Senate chamber.

Senator Herbert Lehman (Dem.-Lib., N.Y.) rang down the curtain with a declaration that Senator Joseph McCarthy must be rebuked because the tactics he has used are destructive of the very institutions of free government.

Lehman spoke after Senator Karl Mundt (Rep., S.D.), taking the opposite side, said it would be a great day for the world-wide Communist propaganda mill if the Senate voted to censure McCarthy. He said a censure vote would be viewed as a retreat in the country's fight against subversion.

There'll be a few more speeches today. Then, by unanimous consent, this special session of the Senate will start voting late in the day on the question of whether or not to reprimand the junior senator from Wisconsin on charges of unbecoming conduct and contempt of the Senate.

Senator William Knowland (Rep., Calif.), said he expected the whole censure issue to be settled Thursday night.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name *Preparation H. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

MLAs Come First Says Sommers

Decision to not make public the agreement between Kaiser and the provincial government until the January session of the legislature is merely "a matter of protocol."

This was the explanation given yesterday by Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers to implications that he had broken a promise to make the agreement public.

Last Thursday the minister told reporters he would issue a statement on the Kaiser dam deal and at the same time would release the agreement to the press. He issued the statement yesterday morning, but said he had reconsidered disclosure of details of the agreement itself.

"There is nothing to hide," the minister said, "but the members of the legislature would object if I gave this to the press before they saw it. You have to observe certain rules of practice. The MLAs should receive official notification first."

Safeguard Against Program Delay

Two Assessment Rolls Prepared

Two assessment rolls have been prepared by the city for 1955 as a safeguard in case the provincial government delays its assessment equalization program.

There has been some speculation that the government may delay the program if a new and satisfactory education cost formula is not worked out in time for the next session of the provincial legislature, which opens January 25.

City council last week asked the government for definite assurance that equalization would be implemented in 1955, but the government has not yet replied.

According to City Manager Cecil Wright, if the government goes ahead with equalization the city will use a new tax roll prepared according to instructions issued last summer by the government. Improvement assessments on this roll are 30 per cent higher, assessments on some residential lands are 35 per cent lower than last year.

If equalization is delayed by the government the city will use a second roll worked out on the same basis as in former years.

The bidding

NORTH	EAST	SOUTH	WEST
Pass	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
4 ◇	Pass	5 ◇	All Pass

Except that it wouldn't be quite grammatical, the title for this hand should be, "Who threw who?" Let's go on with the play right to the bitter end, while you make a note of who made what errors. Don't forget the bidding.

West opened the seven of diamonds, won by North. A low club was led and East popped up with the king to return the two of spades. South grabbed the ace, cashed the queen of clubs and made haste to get to dummy with another trump lead in order to park his losing spade on the club ace.

North played a heart and East's jack forced South's king. Declarer played the ace of hearts; if East had begun with two, the contract would now have been made, but East ruffed the heart and returned a spade. Declarer had to surrender another heart trick and was down one. How many errors did you charge against the various players?

South made the first one with his bid of three diamonds. After a pass, he could hardly expect North to come up with enough to produce a slam; with an honor in each of his short suits, South should merely have bid three no-trump. Nine tricks are a laydown, and with a club opening, or time to lead up to the queen of clubs, North might well make four odd.

The next error is chargeable to East for returning the two of spades. It is too late to shift to spades if South has the ace, while there is probably no hurry about playing spades if he doesn't have the ace. East should lead another trump, forcing North to use a re-entry before the club suit has been unblocked. If declarer comes back to the queen of clubs, then goes to dummy's last trump for a spade discard on the ace of clubs, there is no way for him to avoid two heart losers.

But the final error was South's. He gave the hand back to the opponents by his haste. Before leading to dummy's second diamond, he should have cashed one high heart. Then, after taking the spade discard on the ace of clubs, South pulls another heart lead to his hand. If East ruffs, South remains with the high heart. If he discards, South wins and continues hearts; North's trump remains to take care of one of the remaining heart losers.

Daily Astrology - - -

BY RITA DEL MAR

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 1, 1954

Today's Quotation: "I recommend you to take care of the minutes, for the hours will take care of themselves."
Lord Chesterfield

Wednesday for everyone: Be steady, conscientious; shun haste, irritability, upsets. Do not depend upon the co-operation of others, but rely upon yourself in matters of consequence.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Use care re assets, friendships. The ideas of others can react to your favor.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Take job, higher-ups, perplexities in your stride; don't become rattled.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Carry through transactions in person; do not invite gossip, criticism, censure.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Display tolerance, poise, to offset strain re money matters or friendships. Do not invite dangers.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—Adjust arrangements and views to fall in with prevailing circumstances; let friends help you to see things in focus.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Proceed warily in transit, re work and health. Make headway in business, re prestige and ambitions.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Conserve energy and money; take no chances. Abstain from a show of force; wise planning does the trick.

October 23 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Reach basic understanding concerning partnership dilemmas in late afternoon and evening. Be saving.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Handle key people with kid gloves. Preserve presence of mind to counteract a temperament, impulse.

December 22 to January 19 (Capricorn)—Gain your ends through good service, willingness to work. Elude pitfalls involving money, loved ones, chance-taking.

January 20 to February 18 (Aquarius)—Confide in a dear one if you are in doubt; he'll furnish direction, decisiveness. Shun inharmony, haste.

The TACKLE BOX

BY JIM TANG

Delegates to a federal-provincial tourist conference, currently being held in Ottawa, have expressed alarm at what they term an alarming depletion in Canadian resources of fish and game, and they have placed the blame on Canadian hunters and anglers.

[illegible] Press dispatch a number of delegates expressed alarm at the increase in hunting and fishing in Canada and claimed that the present rate of harvest is endangering Canadian fish and game stocks.

Louis Cecile, Ontario Travel Minister, found support from delegates for his contention that it was the resident angler and hunter who was to blame and that Canadians must be taught the necessity of observing conservation regulations.

D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, was the first to express alarm at the effect of increased hunting and fishing on Canadian resources.

"The demand will increase," Dolan said, "and unless we wake up we are going to find ourselves with a loss of these resources as well as the loss of revenue."

Dolan stated that non-residents annually spent between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 to hunt and fish in Canada. In 1953, a total of 402,769 non-resident fishing licenses were sold and there were 33,240 non-resident hunters in action. This figure compares with 348,603 resident anglers and 944,872 resident hunters.

Victoria anglers who own boats and spend much of their fishing time on the waters of Saanich Inlet are again up in arms over logging operations, and with good reason.

It's a pity that anyone should see fit to log off the scrub timber on the slopes of the Inlet but it becomes a bit outrageous when those operations not only spoil a lot of fishing but sometimes result in danger to navigation. Once again, the results of carelessness can be seen in floating snags, tree tops, branches and other debris. One day a boat will be holed and a life may be lost.

There's nothing to prevent a property-owner from logging his acreage and nothing, apparently, to prevent the logger from using Saanich Inlet to store the logs, if you can call the small stuff that grows on the slopes logs, but the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association this time intends to put up a battle to see that all the laws are observed and that as little inconvenience as possible is caused anglers. The matter has been put in the hands of the Amalgamated Lower Island Sportsmen's Association and it will be pursued until satisfaction has been guaranteed. It's bad enough to have a beauty spot ruined without having an area that has been set aside for sports fishing full of the debris of the logging operations.

* * *

Hall's Boathouse reports that fishing at the Goldstream end of Saanich Inlet has been good although only a few boats have been going out. Both bluebacks and winter springs are being taken in the triangle formed by the Island, Misery Bay and Chesterfield Rock. . . A. Mawer and party had the only boat out Thursday, the result being a catch of 10 bluebacks and a spring. . . On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gunn had the area to themselves, returning with seven springs between eight and 15 pounds . . . some anglers have been scoring with bucktail flys, C. E. Buckley limiting on a blue and white fly Saturday and Lorne and Sophie Heglin taking 12 bluebacks. . . E. Peterson caught eight blues on a Hookum spoon and W. C. Hughes used the same lure for a 10½-pound spring and one smaller. . . Mac's Squid plugs were used by P. A. Richardson to fool four springs around seven pounds and by Pat McLean and Dick Hudson to boat a limit of 10 springs averaging close to eight pounds . . . other successful anglers listed by Halls were Frank Curtis, R. L. Ash and P. Foulkes, Stan Wiseman, Charlie Panting, and J. M. Wood.

Rain May Save Match For English Test Team

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters) — Needing 281 runs to avoid an innings defeat, England lost two more wickets Wednesday morning before a heavy downpour stopped play 35 minutes before lunch on the fifth day of the first Test cricket match against Australia.

Bill Edrich, who made 88, and Peter May 44, were out with 31 runs added to the overnight total of 130 for two wickets.

NEED 249 RUNS

Lunch was taken at 163 for four after a delay of 35 minutes. It rained for 20 minutes and 13 minutes were lost when the groundsmen failed to complete the labored task of removing the covers before lunch.

Edrich and May started well Wednesday, but after 17 had been added May was out leg before wicket to Ray Lindwall for 44. The partnership of 124 lasted two hours 25 minutes.

Edrich went 16 runs later when he was bowled middle stump by Bill Johnston. His 88 included one six and 13 fours.

England, 411 behind after being dismissed for 190 in its first innings, "followed on" and had two second innings wickets down for only 23 runs.

Then Edrich and Peter May come together and lasted out for the rest of Tuesday, being respectively 68 and 39 not out in the unfinished partnership of 107.

There is a chance that in this Queensland rainy season, rain may come for a final rescue act for England.

SCORECARD (END OF TUESDAY PLAY)

Alouette Coach Plans To Stay in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Douglas "Peahead" Walker of Montreal Alouettes told The Canadian Press Tuesday night he has "rejected all offers" from clubs in the National Football League in the United States and will coach in no Canadian city other than Montreal.

Walker did not name the American clubs or indicate the amount of money involved in the enticements from across the border.

"I like Canada and I like Montreal particularly," said Walker. His wife echoed his sentiments. The southern-born Walkers plan to spend the winter in Atlanta, Ga.

There was every indication Walker will be back with the Alouettes next season and go after the Grey Cup again, the all-Canadian trophy they missed in the 26-25 defeat at the hands of Edmonton Eskimos in Toronto Saturday.

EXPECTED BACK

President Fred Skelcher of the Alouettes said he considers Walker "the best coach in Canada" and that he expects Walker back next season.

It was possibly significant that Walker referred to what "we" can do next season. So did quarterback Sam Etcheverry, voted the outstanding player in Canada this season, and end Red O'Quinn. Both are outstanding American imports and both were reported sought by U.S. pro clubs.

Bill Warwick Tops Scoring; Has 20 Goals

KELOWNA (CP) — Veteran Bill Warwick of Penticton V's hit the 20-goal circle in last week's Okanagan Senior Hockey League play to remain atop the loop's individual scoring race.

Warwick, with 20 goals and 11 assists, has 31 points, three more than his teammate Jack McDonald.

Ivan McLelland, also of Penticton, took over as the league's top netminder with an average of 3.32 goals scored against him in 22 games for Kamloops Elks.

Schools Resume Colonist Cup Play Today

Mount View's outstanding goalkeeper Fred Middleton gathers in shot by Victoria High's Len Checkwech during the first half of Monday's Colonist Cup inter-high school senior soccer match at Beacon Hill Park. Mount View, which have won the trophy twice in the past three years, will be seeking its second straight championship today at the Beacon Hill pitch at 3.30 when the teams meet in the second game of the best-of-three final. Middleton sparkled in the first half Monday while his mates scored the only goal of the match. Closing in at left is Mount View's Dick Smith while Bill Abbott (extreme right) is in position for a possible rebound.

Late Goal by Curry Gives Canyens Point

Chicago	22	3	14	5	43	74	11

Last night's score: Montreal 3 vs. Chicago 3 at Omaha.

Next games tonight: Boston at Toronto; Detroit at New York.

Floyd Curry, an unsung member of Montreal Canadiens, came through with his first goal on the road and his second of the season at Omaha, Neb., last night to salvage a 3-3 tie for the National Hockey League leaders against the Chicago Black Hawks.

A crowd of only 4,506 watched Curry score at 18.14 of the third period to enable the Canadiens to increase their lead to seven points over the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs. However, the Leafs have three games in hand and the defending champion Detroit Red Wings, who trail by eight points, have four games in hand.

HAWKS TOUGH

The Canadiens were hard-pressed all the way against the last-place Hawks in the game that had been switched to Omaha from Chicago. Chicago twice held a one-goal lead and it had appeared that the Hawks would pick up their fourth victory in 22 starts this season when Gordon Hollingworth put them ahead 3-2 at 14.41 of the third period.

Lou Jankowski of Chicago and Montreal's Jean Beliveau traded goals in the first period but Maurice Richard gave Canadiens their only lead when he scored at 2.54 of the second period. Alan Stanley tied it up three minutes later to set the stage for the last-period flurry.

LEADERS HELP

Bernie Geoffrion, the league's top scorer with 18 goals, picked up two assists to hold his four-point edge over Beliveau, who added an assist to his goal. Geoffrion has 30 points, Beliveau 26 and Richard is third with 25.

SUMMARY

First period — 1, Chicago, Jankowski (Toppazzini, Masnick) 10.51. 2, Montreal, Beliveau (MacPherson, Geoffrion) 17.29. Penalty, Bouchard 4.31.

Second period—3, Montreal, Richard (Olmstead, Leclair) 2.54. 4, Chicago, Stasiuk (Sullivan, Mosienko) 8.09. Penalties, Geoffrion 14.37, Mickoski 17.32.

Third period — 5, Chicago, Hollingworth (Jankowski, Morison) 14.41. 6, Montreal, Curry (Beliveau, Geoffrion) 18.14. Penalties, Hollingworth 2.03, Olmstead 12.05.

Major Bowls Set for Play

Auburn and high-scoring Baylor yesterday accepted invitations to compete in the 10th annual Gator Bowl, making the program complete for the five major U.S. college football bowl games New Year's Day.

A feature will be the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans where Navy, which accepted an invitation after edging Army 27-20 last Saturday, meets Mississippi.

Major bowl lineup with won-lost records of teams:

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif.: Ohio State (9-0) vs. Southern California (8-2).

Sugar Bowl, New Orleans: Navy (7-2) vs. Mississippi (9-1).

Orange Bowl, Miami: Duke (7-2-1) vs. Nebraska (8-1).

Cotton Bowl, Dallas: Arkansas (8-2) vs. Georgia Tech. (7-3).

Gator Bowl, Jacksonville: Auburn (7-3) vs. Baylor (7-3).

Grey Cup Revenue Record $199,000

TORONTO (CP)—Harry McBrien, secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, estimated Tuesday that revenue of the November 27 Grey Cup game will amount to about $199,000, the highest in history for the east-west football final.

Official figures will not be available until after Edmonton Eskimos and Montreal Alouettes submit their expenses to the CRU, he said.

Net gate receipts are expected to total about $127,000 after deduction of $16,000 for the Ontario hospital tax. A record $72,000 was obtained for television, radio, motion picture and program rights compared with $40,000 last year.

The $166,940 in revenue for the 1953 final was the previous highest. Gate receipts that year totaled $126,940.

The TV rights for this year's final brought $45,000, radio $17,000, movies $8,500 and program $1,500.

McBrien said Varsity Stadium rental amounts to about $22,000.

The CRU will take 12½ per cent of the net revenue as its share with the remainder being divided by the Big Four Football Union and the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Papa Ed Back

Leading Victoria Cougar scorer and holding down third place in Western Hockey League scoring race, Ed Dorohoy will be seeking to boost his total tonight when Cougars host New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena at 8.30. Dorohoy, who has 12 goals and 18 assists, became a father when the Cougars were on the Prairies and saw his new baby daughter for the first time this morning.

Vic High Team About Due For First Win

Victoria High Totems, who have dropped two one-point decisions and lost another by three points, will be seeking their first victory of the season tonight at the Fernwood gym when they host Victoria College in the feature of a two-game basketball card.

Totems lost by a good margin to Graduates in their opening start but in succeeding games dropped a three-point decision to Normal School and lost by one point to Alberni High School and powerful Vancouver College.

Totems will face tough opposition in two games next week, meeting Fletchers of the senior "B" League Friday night at the Fernwood gym and clashing with the visiting Bellingham Red Raiders Saturday night at the new Central Junior High gym.

Opening tonight's card at 7.30 will be a clash between the senior girls' representative teams from the two schools. Feature game starts at 8.30.

Bucyk Nets Twice As Cougars Tie; Game Here Tonight

Vancouver	21	9	9	3	69	65	21
Saskatoon	23	5	17	1	73	103	11

Last night's scores: Vancouver 3, Calgary 3 at Saskatoon 3.

Next games tonight: New Westminster at VICTORIA; Saskatoon at Calgary.

Victoria Cougars completed a highly-acceptable road trip at Vancouver last night by playing to a 3-3 tie with the Canucks before a crowd of about 2,200 fans.

GOOD TRIP

It was the fifth game in eight days for the Cougars, who return home this morning for a game at Memorial Arena tonight against the New Westminster Royals. On the trip, the Cougars won at Saskatoon and Calgary and lost to Edmonton and the second game at Saskatoon previous to last night's tie.

Cougars left for the Prairies in fifth place with a .500 rating and came back in fourth spot still with their season's record balanced. They are two points ahead of Canucks and five points behind the Edmonton Flyers, Western Hockey League leaders.

For the Canucks, last night's game was the sixth in a row without victory. They have lost four and tied two during their slump.

PASSES FROM REAY

Bill Bucyk, young defenseman on loan from Detroit Red Wings, was the Cougar hero last night. Helped out by coach Billy Reay on each occasion, Bucyk fired his first two goals of the season, and the second and third of his professional career, to square matters after Canucks had scored twice in 20 seconds [illegible] ing out a penalty.

Doug Adam got the first two Vancouver goals, scoring both times from the left side of the net as first Billy Dea and then Jack Lancien got the puck to him. Bucyk sizzled one through a maze of players from close in as Reay fed him the puck to cut the margin in two, then tied it up as the Victoria coach got the draw from a face-off in the Vancouver zone and passed back.

FLUKE TIES

Doug Macauley put Cougars ahead in the third period after a wide-open middle 20 minutes when his shot bounced off goalie Bev Bentley's pads into a top corner. A fluke shot from the blue line by rookie defenseman John Reeve tied it up shortly after. It was Reeve's first goal of the season and it came on a blue-line shot which took a bounce over goalie Marcel Pelletier's stick.

Tonight's game is the first of three in four nights against the Royals. The clubs play here again Friday night and in New Westminster Saturday. That winds up an arduous schedule for the Cougars, making it nine games since November 20, including four on the Prairies.

HAVE EDGE

Royals will be much the fresher club tonight, having played only three games since November 16, and they will arrive hoping to extend a three-game win streak and take over first place. They are one point behind the Flyers. A Victoria win would move the Cougars within two points of the Royals.

Royals won the first four games between the two clubs this season, by scores of 4-3, 7-3, 5-3 and 5-3, but the Cougars came back to take the last two in convincing fashion, 6-1 and 4-0.

LINE-UPS

Victoria—Goal, Pelletier; defense, Burnham, Cline, Keating, D. Bucyk; forwards, Macauley, Hebenton, Achtymichuk, Andgrson, Kozma, Kilburn, E. Dorohoy, Marquess, Reay.

Calgary Goalkeeper Stops Quakers, 5-3

Calgary Stampeders, who went into a tailspin coincident with the loss through injuries of forwards Steve Witiuk and Jim McFadden, ended a six-game winless streak at Saskatoon last night by handing the last-place Quakers a 5-3 setback.

Victory boosted the third-place Stamps three points ahead of Victoria Cougars and within two points of the league-leading Edmonton Flyers in the close Western Hockey League race.

STOPS 42 SHOTS

Quakers held a wide edge in play and were unfortunate in losing, but Calgary goalkeeper Bill Brennan had one of his best nights, kicking out 42 of 45 shots directed his way, including 19 of 21 in a first period in which the Stamps were extremely lucky to split four goals.

Besides finding Brennan a tough nut to crack, the Quakers had a goal disallowed which would have tied the score at 4-4. The Saskatoon team, playing hard, was battling to overcome a 4-2 lead and got half-way there when Len Haley scored while referee George Cullen was trying to separate Calgary defenseman Pat Coburn and Saskatoon forward Aggie Kukulowicz.

Haley scored shortly after but Cullen ruled the whistle had gone first, the Quakers arguing to no avail that the puck was in the net first. Then Art Michaluk scored into the empty net after Saskatoon had taken off goalie Doug Stevenson for a sixth attacker.

Sid Finney scored twice for the winners, with Archie Scott picking up three assists. Witiuk returned to action and figured on both Finney's goals.

Calgary—Goal, Brennan; defense, Coburn, S. Hucul, Quackenbush, Michaluk; forwards, Lundy, Couture, P. Hucul, Parpetet, Ashworth, Witiuk, Barry, Scott, Finney.

Saskatoon—Goal, Stevenson; defence, Forbes, Milford, Kaiser, Ross; forwards, Kohussen, Manson, Kullman, Kukulowicz, Haley, Lamoureux, Robertson, McLeod, Lynn, D. Bentley.

Referee, George Cullen; linesman, Buck Crawford.

Summary

First period—1, Calgary, Couture (P. Hucul, Lundy) 1.15; 2, Saskatoon, Milford (McLeod, Lynn) 1.36; 3, Calgary, Coburn (Scott) 3.47; 4, Saskatoon, Lamoureux (Kukulowicz, Milford) 9.01. Penalty: Ashworth 14.41.

Second period—5, Calgary, Finney (Scott, Witiuk) 18.10. Penalties: Kullman 6.41; Michaluk 11.37.

Third period—6, Calgary, Finney (Scott, Witiuk) 2.17; 7, Saskatoon, Haley (Forbes) 11.14; 8, Calgary, Michaluk 19.54. Penalties: McLeod 7.38; S. Hucul 7.38; Coburn (major and 10-minute misconduct) 11.14; Kukulowicz 11.14; Quackenbush 18.28.

Kings: Brennan 19, 12, 11—42. Stevenson 6, 3, 4—13.

Last night's score: Individuals 45, Fletchers 36.

Next game, Friday: Shamrocks vs. Copley Bros. 8, J. Willis arena.

Individuals, held well in check in the first half, broke loose in the second half to score a 45-36 victory over Fletchers and take over first place in the Victoria and District Basketball League's senior "B" circuit at the S. J. Willis gym last night.

Fletchers, the city's only junior team, which entered the senior league for competition, put up a good battle in the first half and trailed by only four points at half-time. But the winners pulled away in the second half to post their third victory in four starts.

BAMFORD LEADS

Gordy Bamford topped the winners with 11 points, followed by Duff McCaghey and Don Donahue each with nine. Paul Simpson and Gary Gilbert carried the load for Fletchers with 11 and 10 points respectively.

In preliminary games, Tillicums whipped Broadmead, 41-10, in a midget boys' contest while Gordon Head dropped a 35-26 decision to Eagles in juvenile boys action.

Lineups follow:

Australia Kangaroos defeated New Zealand Kiwis, 28-18, at Los Angeles Sunday, and 31-13 at Long Beach Saturday, in international rugby league test matches.

Russians May Make Bid For Davis Cup

LONDON (AP) — Tennis, a favorite with the capitalist country club set, is one of Russia's fastest growing sports.

The sport is played extensively in Moscow, Tiflis, Leningrad and a dozen other cities, says S. B. Reay, secretary of the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

"They play mostly on hard courts," Reay said. "They have both indoor and outdoor games and to help them along Josef Asboth, the veteran Hungarian Davis Cup star, has been sent to Moscow twice and played with the best Russians.

"I have talked with several Russian sports officials and they told me the game is growing rapidly."

The Russians are far below Wimbledon or Davis Cup class, say Westerners who have seen Russians playing. Most of their equipment is American or Swedish, bought in huge lots and imported into Russia after the Second World War.

MOVE ALONG THERE, PLEASE: They have been playing golf for a long time . . . for over 500 years in some parts of the world. But they have never played so long as they do today.

The average four-baller ambles around in four hours—if it isn't too badly held up.

That's a full hour over the former par.

What has caused the slow-down? Here are some answers as I see them.

(1) Wholesale marking of balls on the green following a lesson in the rhyme;

(2) multiplicity of side stakes and bets that require everyone to hole out and need a chartered accountant to keep the tally;

(3) advent of caddy-carts which double the walking around hazards and greens.

Ball marking is getting such an epidemic that I am just waiting to hear of someone parking his tee shot so near the green at a short hole that he is asked to go and mark the ball before the others take their drives.

Everyone can do a little to help a speed-up movement. Let's start right now with the colder, shorter days coming up.

* * *

THINK OF OTHERS: As a good example of slow motion golf, the button match at Victoria on Sunday would take some beating.

With a clear course, and no great weather hazards, the quartet took four hours to play the 18 holes. The last two were played in the gloaming.

Most of the time was lost on and around the putting greens.

Each player waited his turn to go through the lining up preliminaries.

It would seem to a chilled onlooker that all of this palaver could be done more or less simultaneously. Then as each player's turn came he would, like the Boy Scouts, Be Prepared.

The hardy boys who play in these button games are doing their bit to keep interest alive in the game during the off-months. For that we thank them, but it would certainly be much appreciated by the faithful who watch them perform if they could carry it through just a little bit faster.

It can be done without the slightest lowering of the standard.

* * *

LONG HITTING PAYS: Having survived the hard hurdle of Fleming and Merriman, our city button holders, Morrison and Scroggs should, barring an upturn, keep their title for some time.

Both are exceptionally long hitters, and with the courses in their present heavy condition, that's a vital matter.

Against the Gorge Vale boys, Morrison and Scroggs were generally ahead off the tee.

* * *

WORTH THE EXPENSE: The eleventh hole in Sunday's button game cost Bob Morrison $12.50 . . . the price of replacing a No. 7 iron.

Morrison's drive at this hole lay under the out-of-bounds fence but just in play. A post was on the direct line of the follow-through, and Morrison knew that to play the shot for distance he was bound to break a club.

Morrison took the extravagant course because as he told me after smashing the club, "I may be needed at this hole. I can still hit a wedge to the green and get a four."

That is precisely what the wily old campaigner did. And the four not only saved the hole, but actually won it for Fleming and Merriman each threw away a golden opportunity by hitting their seconds into the long trap on the right of the green.

As the match was won by a single hole, Morrison justified the sacrifice of his club . . . besides which he declared it to be the one he liked least in his whole bag.

* * *

IS THIS A LIMIT?: What a day, (or rather what a week end) it was for Eric Day of Uplands.

Saturday, playing in the turkey competition, Eric went round in 88, which with his handicap of 23 gave him a net of 65.

Sunday with his handicap pruned five strokes, Eric repeated his 88, and netted 70.

Result—two turkeys in the locker—and probably another cut in handicap.

* * *

VERLEY GOES STRONG: Another hot turkey performer these days is the Victoria Club ace Gordon Verley. In the last few weeks he has clicked for four turkeys, and he is playing so well that it seems almost impossible to handicap him.

On Saturday, Gordon won his fourth gobbler, along with Alderman Bill Pinfold, and then on Sunday, in a friendly game, he went round the Victoria links in 67 with everything over 18 inches holed out.

I happened to be on the opposition side when Gordon went on the rampage, but costly though it was, the pleasure of seeing such fine golf was ample compensation.

Gordon was out in par 33, and home in two under par 34. He had bogeys at the third, ninth and thirteenth holes, birdies at the fourth, eighth and fifteenth holes, and an eagle three at the long 17th.

No one in Victoria at present is playing long irons better or putting the rough greens with anything like Verley's assurance.

* * *

CUP FINAL SATURDAY: Final of the Bryant Cup at Royal Colwood will be played Saturday. Club champion, George Andrews and Stan Evans will meet Vic Painter and Cam Jameson.

In last week's semi-final Andrews and Evans beat J. Blackstock and Max Brooks 2 and 1.

* * *

BY HOOK OR BY CROOK: At the annual general meeting of the Ardmore Golf Club last week, a member asked that the out-of-bounds posts at the first and second holes should be eliminated, "Because I pull so badly," he explained.

Run that Made Grey Cup History

Jackie Parker, who ran 85 yards with fumble Saturday to win Grey Cup final for Edmonton Eskimos, is shown above just crossing Edmonton 30-yard line. Montreal quarterback Sam Etcheverry is shown trying to cut Parker off but is not nearly as close as picture indicates due to camera angle. Teammate Johnny Bright is slightly behind Parker and in excellent spot to move up for lateral in case Etcheverry should have got close enough to tackle. Actually, Parker wasn't in much danger and when tackle Bob Dean made convert, Eskimos won game 26-25.

Germans Pessimistic On Eve of Big Match

LONDON (AP) — National soccer teams of England and Germany meet at Wembley Stadium today before 100,000 fans with British experts warning against overconfidence and the Germans saying they're sure to lose.

Herbert Widmayer, a German soccer coach, watched the English players work out on Chelsea's ground Tuesday and remarked:

"If Germany loses only 3-0 I think we shall have done well."

Walter Winterbottom, English manager, was non-committal. "We are looking forward to a hard game. The result? Well, who knows how strong the Germans really are?"

Injuries and illness of eight men have left Germany a shadow of the team that won the world soccer championship in Switzerland earlier this year.

Sepp Herberger, Germany's manager, and Winterbottom both reported their players 100 per cent fit and ready to go.

STADIUM SLIPPERY

Heavy rains have made Wembley Stadium wet and slippery, but a groundsman said "the turf is in perfect condition."

The German players took things easy Tuesday, watching the Queen leave Buckingham Palace for the state opening of Parliament.

Widmayer, commenting on the team's preparations for this game, said:

"The German team wound up their home trials at Frankfurt to get more accustomed to the heavy conditions they can expect at Wembley. But I think the ground conditions still will favor the English.

"The Germans will play a hard, fighting game. The players are right behind coach Herberger. They are full of enthusiasm. Herberger has got a tough job. Nobody else in Germany would like his task at the moment."

Hartwig's Brilliance Boosts Aussie Hopes

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP) — Rex Hartwig, a country boy from nearby Culcairn, and Philadelphia plumbing heir Vic Seixas emerged as the strong men of the respective Australian and United States Davis Cup teams Tuesday as American hopes sagged with the defeat of Tony Trabert.

TRIMS TRABERT

Trabert, Uncle Sam's broad-shouldered blockbuster who carried most of the weight of the U.S. team a year ago, fell in straight sets before the slashing Hartwig in the quarter-finals of the Victorian tennis championships, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6.

Seixas, the disappointment of America's 1953 cup bid, meanwhile, continued to show sparkling form as he cut down Mervyn Rose, Australia's national champion, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4.

In the first two sets the Philadelphian, who holds the U.S. championships, looked unbeatable, but he suffered an unconscious relaxation and almost let Rose slip away.

Not so Hartwig, who kept the pressure on Trabert with a slashing game and probably earned himself a singles spot on the Australian team over Ken Rosewall.

Rosewall also reached the semi-finals, but he had to play one extra set and go overtime in another set before subduing Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., 6-1, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

HOAD SCORES

The other semi-final berth was filled by Lew Hoad, another member of the Australian Davis Cup team. He had to work to eliminate Sweden's Sven Davidson, 6-3, 2-6, 1-6, 6-0, 10-8. Hoad now meets Seixas and Hartwig and Rosewall tangle in the other semi-final.

Hartwig, who has been the consistently best amateur in the world the last six months, gave a brilliant performance, although Trabert definitely was below form.

The country boy zoomed back Trabert's biggest services and kept on top of his attack all the way.

"I couldn't get some of those shots if I had had jet propulsion on my heels," Trabert said later.

"If Hartwig plays like that I'll never beat him."

"Noboby will beat him," added Bil Talbert, the U.S. cup captain.

Bantam Hockey Starts with Tie

Royals and Capitals battled to a 3-3 deadlock at Memorial Arena yesterday as the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association's bantam league opened its season.

Tired Eskimos All Want Sleep—Face Joyous Edmontonians Today

EDMONTON — Thousands of Edmontonians will flank downtown streets today to get their first glimpse of the cherished Grey Cup and sound their tribute for the spirited Edmonton Eskimos who earned it.

The city calls it Grey Cup Victory and Eskimo Appreciation Day. It promised to be a full one, particularly for the players.

The procession is expected to bring out one of Edmonton's biggest downtown crowds. The city's 30,000-odd school children have been given a half-holiday, city stores are closed Wednesday afternoon anyway, and other business firms have been urged by civic officials to let employees loose for the doings.

COULDN'T WAIT

The players, greeted on arrival from Toronto by air before dawn Tuesday by some 2,000 pennant-waving fans, were given about 36 hours' rest to prepare for the parade and a round of invitational receptions.

The team's special plane was surrounded even before its engines stopped by wildly-cheering fans who knocked a heavy wire gate 20 feet from its hinges to penetrate a police cordon and crowd the plane ramp.

Jackie Parker, former Mississippi State back who came home as the toast of the town after scoring the winning touchdown against Montreal Saturday, said as he came down the ramp: "We've got the Grey Cup, now we want some sleep."

GETS TRIBUTE

Eagle Keys, burly centre who snapped for three quarters despite a broken leg, probably got the biggest welcome as he grasped his crutches in one hand and hopped down the ramp on his one good leg.

Coach Frank Ivy mumbled "Wonderful, wonderful," as he elbowed through the maze of well-wishers and later told reporters that his boys were still "pretty well awed by the whole thing."

It took the players nearly 20 minutes to push their way through the crowd and into a terminal room to meet their wives and children. Some of the fans—many of them school kids—had been waiting for more than three hours.

"Sheer guts," was halfback Johnny Bright's comment on the game in which the injury-riddled Eskimos produced two final quarter touchdowns to upset the Alouettes, 26-25.

definitely planned to quit the game, end Rollin Prather said "that's right."

Bernie Faloney, quarterback who called what experts termed a masterful game through a split-T running attack, was not among the returning players. Faloney had had his [illegible] to Toronto and following the game drove directly to University of Maryland to catch a final semester of studies.

Lady Bowlers Commence Second Round

Clark's Pharmacy got away to a good start in the second third of Gibson Bowladrome's Ladies' Major Tenpin League Monday night by sweeping three games from Viv McLeary's team.

Hughes Window Cleaners won the first third of the competition, followed by Domestic Sales and Alberta Meat in that order. However, both Hughes and Alberta Meat could manage only one victory in three games Monday while Domestic Sales won two of three games.

Scores follow:

Hovering Helicopter Shows Paces

On demonstration in Victoria yesterday was this Bell Model 47 helicopter which will be based here permanently if Vancouver Island Helicopters Ltd. is successful in its application for a charter to operate from Patricia Bay. The helicopter hovers over the Shelbourne Street property of Joseph Howroyd, who is handing a bag to Ted Hensen, Victoria representative of Vancouver Island Helicopters. Pilot is Jerry Corbett.

Coast Industry's Rainmakers Rouse Publicity Chief's Wrath

Rainmaking "generators" are operating on Vancouver Island at Wellington, Lantzville, Ladysmith, Duncan, Campbell River and Comox.

The Water Resources Development Corporation of Spokane, Wash., and Denver, Colo., said it was [illegible] rainmaking on the B.C. coast for the benefit of Canadian industrial clients.

The company said it had been operating in British Columbia for two years.

Vancouver Island residents will recall experiments approximately two years ago in the Comox Valley.

HURT TOURIST TRADE

The generators appear to be responsible for the Islands bad weather, [illegible] Commissioner George I. Warren said last night.

"It would appear they are responsible for all the rainfall here lately," Mr. Warren said angrily.

"Instead of helping us they have harmed us especially our tourist business in the upper parts of the Island. It is my thing but encouraging to summer tourist business, and the many reports that have been published to conjure up bizarre pictures of the summer paradise where there was here no evidence of drought," he said.

BOMBARD AIR

Seven generators have been used in the project. They are reported to bombard the air with [illegible] particles which, if cloud conditions are right, are supposed to make rain.

An official of the Powell River Paper Company confirmed that the company had contributed for the set-up of the rainmakers.

A B.C. Electric Company spokesman said the service had been requested by the BCE last year on an experimental basis to find out if the rainfall in the Lower B.C. Mainland watersheds could be increased to generate more low-cost power.

The work, he said, was discontinued because of the uncertainty of results.

The machines consist of "generator units." Each generator needs a [illegible] apparatus about the size of a kitchen range and is capable of releasing hundreds of millions of silver iodide particles skyward an hour.

The particles rise to an approximate height of 10,000 feet, where each becomes the nucleus of a raindrop which increases in weight until it falls.

NO CONTROL

An official of the provincial water rights branch said last night that he doubted if any department could ever control even the corporation "[illegible] surface water. It is to be licensed for use," he said.

He had not heard of rainmaking efforts in the Island but knew rainmaking was being tried in some parts of Canada.

A conservation authority said he had heard of the rainmaking [illegible] on Vancouver Island and [illegible] states and seems to be [illegible] feasible.

The machines are portable, he said.

Similar work is being conducted on the Canadian Prairies by a Canadian subsidiary of the Denver Company, and the meteorological division of the Canadian department of trans-port is investigating the effectiveness of the experiments.

Oh, To Be in England . . .

Egyptian dancing girls may seem out of place in an Elizabethan England setting, but when they're as pretty as these no one complains. These five students of the Wayne Shaw dance school appear in the Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society's presentation of "Merrie England," which ends a three-night run at the Royal Theatre tonight. In the foreground are Gwen Gillie and Vivian Briggs, behind them are Carole Slater, Shirley Green and Peggy Card.

Pulled from Gorge, Boy Recovering

Elderly Man Saves Nearly-Drowned Tot; 'It's a Miracle' Says Grateful Mother

Two-and-a-half year-old Stanley's mother, Mrs. Robert E. Nelson, 639 Langford, thinks it was a "miracle."

The "miracle" was 68-year-old Ernest Stradiotto, 615 Belton, who pulled the unconscious little boy from the Gorge waters about 11 a.m. [illegible] recovering in St. Joseph's Hospital where his condition was reported quite good last night.

The grandfather of youngster was with two small companions passing on the Lookout Lodge of Rockland Park when he slipped into the sea.

They overlooked or ignored large stocks of cigarettes and liquor although they robbed every mess in the building. They stole only the more expensive brands of liquor.

[illegible] officers [illegible] refused [illegible] and [illegible] works. [illegible] wanted the old bar. But it was empty.

The thieves took cigarettes from the men's messes and [illegible] cash from the officers' messes.

No firearms or ammunition were stolen and dozens of solid silver regimental trophies and a sterling silver serving set were untouched.

TIME DETERMINED

The theft apparently [illegible] were carried out [illegible] a house-room employee [illegible]

The thieves entered by neatly forcing a door just to the left of the main Bay Street entrance. Doors of messes were opened by breaking boards and forcing locks. Some inner doors were lifted off hinges.

Timely Topic

Only three or four hours before eight messes at Bay Street Armoury were ransacked, paymasters of this area and Western Command Headquarters at Edmonton concluded a conference there.

Their subject: protection of funds.

More Rain, Too

November Song Both Hot, Cold

November disdaining lamb and lion behavior, came in like a steaming radiator and went out last night like a refrigerator.

On the first day of the month, Victoria enjoyed nine hours, 12 minutes of sunshine and a high temperature of 64. The sun shone for four hours, 48 minutes yesterday, but official temperature in the morning went down to 36 degrees and [illegible] the street temperature several degrees lower.

The weatherman said last night the temperature would drop to 30 overnight and perhaps to 25 in low-lying areas. By 7 p.m. five hours before the end of the month there already was frost on car windshields.

November distinguished itself with less sunshine and more rain than usual. Precipitation totalled 5.97 inches, 1.92 inches more than normal, and the sun shone for 68 hours, 18 minutes. Normal is 78 hours, 24 minutes.

Immigrants Still Leading In Province

Newcomers to British Columbia continue to outnumber the number who leave, national health and welfare figures indicate.

In November, 771 families [illegible] came to B.C. [illegible] from [illegible] and the Prairies. [illegible] Home region [illegible] health and welfare department said. In the same period, 291 families left B.C.

Give your young daughter her first lessons in a home manicure. Watch her carefully when filing so that she does not work down into corners. It takes practice for her to master this phase of a manicure but its well worth the effort of very both. Smooth rounded tips will discourage "biting," too. Another aid to well groomed finger tips is having her own pink plastic tray of manicure items which are designed just for her use.

Christmas Bazaar Makes $200 for WA

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—More than $200 was realized for the United Church WA and many Christmas shopping problems were solved by the patrons of the WA's annual bazaar in the SLAA Hall.

The hall was decorated in the Christmas theme.

Mrs. E. J. Cooke and Mrs. R. Ostlund convened the stall for aprons and Mrs. W. McFarland and Mrs. L. Ellison were conveners of the large section of children's and adult hand knitted goods.

Mrs. W. Kerstens had charge of the miscellaneous stall and the new department of dress clothes and equipment. The home-cooking stall was arranged by Mrs. A. Kerstens. Other convenors were Mrs. Wood, tea and Mrs. [illegible] White [illegible] stall.

TV Talk

BY ROY PARRETT

A search man, Stephen Michael Barden Reed, almost became Victoria's second television casualty.

He was a novice on his TV [illegible] with a high-tension power line.

It was a close call.

The shock of almost 7000 volts knocked him from the tree where he was working but fortunately, the antenna remained in the branches tangled in the power lines.

Otherwise he would have been electrocuted on the spot.

The victim is recovering slowly, it is more than can be said for the TV set. The high-voltage line shook the lead-in, melted the antenna switch and rotor and burned out all but destroyed the set.

Earlier this week a Victoria man was killed on a fall from a ladder while erecting a TV aerial.

TV casualties in the United States, have been rather numerous. Let's not have any more here!

Relics Found Of Ancient Man

LONDON (AP)—Communist China claimed yesterday to have unearthed remains of a primitive human roughly related to the mysteriously missing Pekin man. Human teeth dating from about Pekin man's era in the paleolithic age have been found in the southern part of Shansi Province, Peiping radio said. The Chinese Academy of Sciences estimated the owner of the teeth belonged to the period from 200,000 to 600,000 years ago.

League of the Roses (Lancs and Yorks) meets at 904 Government Thursday at 8 p.m. for entertainment, a door prize, and refreshments.

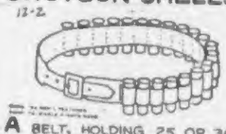
CARRYING EXTRA SHOTGUN SHELLS



A BELT, HOLDING 25 OR 30 SHOTGUN SHELLS, IS MORE COMFORTABLE FOR CARRYING A DAY'S SUPPLY OF SHELLS THAN SHELL LOOPS IN A VEST OR JACKET. THE LATTER IS HEAVY ON YOUR SHOULDERS, SLOWS YOUR SWING, AND THE CLOTH LOOPS SHRINK IN TIME, MAKING SHELLS FIT TOO SNUG FOR QUICK USE. BELT SHOULD FIT OVER REGULAR BELT AND BE MADE OF LEATHER SO IT CAN'T SHRINK!

IF YOU'RE THINKING OF A GIFT FOR A GUNNING PAL, HE'D WELCOME IT!

Russia Years Ahead of West In Commercial Use of Arctic

COLLEGE, Alaska (NANA)—The Russians are years ahead of America in using the Arctic Ocean as a shipping route, and in developing industry in the Arctic.

That is the belief of Dr. Terence Armstrong of the Scott Polar Research Institute at Cambridge, England, who announced the results of a long study of the Soviet Arctic in an appearance at the University of Alaska here.

Russian success in sending cargo ships along the coast of northern Siberia is "undeniably a great achievement, and one that contrasts sharply with corresponding development in the western hemisphere," he said.

This raises the question, he indicated, of whether the United States and Canada may not be passing up development of a region whose economic value and communications channels may one day be sorely needed.

LITTLE ATTEMPT

Although the Northwest Passage along Canada's island-studded northern coast was discovered in the middle of the 19th century, little attempt has ever been made to send commercial vessels along this route, or to establish industries in its vicinity.

Last summer, however, HMCS Labrador, Canada's newest and finest patrol ship, 7,000 tons, crossed from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean along this route, and two United States icebreakers—the navy's Burton Island and the coast guard's Northwind—explored the western reaches of this historic passage.

Nothing very definite is known about the region's mineral deposits. However, uranium already is being mined in northwestern Canada, and the [illegible] has found oil in northern Alaska.

Obstacles to be overcome in developing the American Arctic and in making regular use of the Northwest Passage are on the same order as those the Russians have overcome—except that Siberia has more large rivers emptying into the Arctic Ocean.

ICE-CAUSED FOGS

"Siberian waters are icebound and impassable at least seven months of the year—and in some parts for eight, nine or ten. In the remainder there is plenty of ice about, and this in turn causes fogs which tend to be most frequent in the months when there is least ice," said Dr. Armstrong.

A large number of Russian government services—icebreakers, meteorological stations, hydrographic operations and a large staff of scientists—undoubtedly have been used in the Siberian effort, he said.

Strict secrecy is enforced; however, on all Russian activities in the Arctic — economic as well as military.

Something is known about the timber traffic across the Kara Sea, however, because foreign vessels are permitted to follow this route in carrying these Soviet exports to world lumber markets.

Foreign vessels first must call at Murmansk, the eastern Arctic port to which so many American freighter convoys sailed during the Second World War.

Russian officials board these ships, seal all cameras, and accompany the vessels across the Kara Sea to the mouth of the Yenesei River. This artery then is followed for miles southward where the timber is loaded.

Similar natural wealth may lie across the Arctic Ocean in this Hemisphere, Dr. Armstrong believes. There also may be valuable shipping economies possible in use of the Northwest Passage — it would shorten the distance from Europe to the Far East considerably, for example.

In Victoria, British Columbia, the Canadian port at which HMCS Labrador ended her Atlantic-Pacific voyage, Capt. Owen Robertson predicted that within a few years freighters would be making regular trips through this route.

UNCERTAINTY REMOVED

Use of radar and helicopters removes uncertainties which dogged navigators of an earlier day, he explained.

At one time his vessel proceeded in dense fog at 15 knots, although 300 icebergs were visible on the radar screen. At other times, he said, helicopters scouted the course through the ice, and then "sat down" on ice floes while waiting for the Labrador to catch up.

If these services were available to vessels during the open season each year, it would make the Northwest Passage well worth using, Captain Robertson declared.

Selling Wave Hits New York Near Close

NEW YORK (UP)—Industrial shares declined after six sessions of advance had lifted their average to an all-time record high.

The average was higher until the late dealings. Then profit-taking developed on such a broad scale that the tickers fell behind. They had not caught up when the final gong ended trading.

Aircrafts which had been carried up 2 to more than 3 points lost half their gains.

Rails broke more than 1½ points in their average.

Strong spots included Firestone, up 2½ on plans to split the stock and raise dividends on the new stock; Corn Products, up 1⅛ and Chrysler, up nearly a point.

Declines of a point or more were set by many blue chips, including the leading oils, Union Carbide, General Motors, Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch.

Mining Streak Ends

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market snapped a month-long winning streak and ended lower on balance.

Constructions, steels and manufacturers ended lower but liquors, financial institutions and motors gained.

Royalite led western oils down with a 75-cent drop and Amurex was off 70 cents to 7.50 after reporting increased net loss.

In low priced mines Faraday lost 23 cents, Beatrage 15 cents and Lorado 15 cents.

Uraniums and Manitouwadge and Bathurst stocks ended easier as groups but drops in individual issues were mostly small.

East Sullivan dropped 30 cents and United Keno 40 in senior base metals. Teck-Hughes lost 20 cents in golds.

Papers Lose Ground

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices were irregularly lower at the close of the active trading on the stock market.

Crown Zellerbach was down 2¾ points, while St. Lawrence Corporation lost 2. Dominion Steel slipped back 1⅛ and Algoma Steel and Imperial Oil were each off ¾.

Industrial Acceptance gained ¾, while Canada Cement, Bathurst "B" and McColl were each ½ stronger.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters)—Generally unsettled conditions marked the London stock market and there was a marked preponderance of losses. The dominating influence was talk of the possibility of measures to counter the inflationary trend and dearer money was a subject of discussion.

Losses were quite substantial in gilt-edged with conversion 3½ per cent and war loan 3½s leading the decline. Foreign bonds were irregular.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 73s 6d, Boots Pure Drug 27s 10½d, Canadian Pacific 45⅝, Central Mining 44s, Courtaulds 38s 4½d, Hudson's Bay Co. 148s 9d, Imperial Chemical 40s, Imperial Tobacco 59s 3d, Metal Box 82s 6d, Mexican Eagle 23s, Rand Mines 72s 6d.

Bonds: British 2½s Consols 87, British 3½s War Loans 089, British Funding 4s 1960-1990 103½.

Traffic Strangles Downtown Stores

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Straws in the wind: Wanamaker is reported to be closing its main store in New York. A large retail establishment in Salt Lake City has opened a multi-floored downtown parking area. Montgomery Ward is closing a number of its metropolitan retail stores at the end of the year.

This is happening in the United States despite the fact that retail sales are rising, and are higher than a year ago.

Experts on business trends, like Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., say that the decline in downtown business is due to higher suburban buying and greater mail-order activity.

Bugaboo in nearly every downtown area is parking.

A glance at the streets shows that even somnolent old Victoria is not immune to the problem, now that the Christmas rush has started.

SAVES ITS MEMBERS

The Vancouver Better Business Bureau claims to have done its record year's work in 1954, with 15,333 instances of service.

General manager Bill Templeton says that some of its 717 members were saved $800,000 through advice against investment in an enterprise that went into bankruptcy.

The bureau also claims to have run several unethical used-car dealers out of business, while numerous rackets were nipped in the incipient stage through warnings given in bureau bulletins.

U.S. BILLS COST MORE

The U.S. government yesterday had to pay 1.029 per cent for its 90-day bills, the highest since April and considerably higher than the .897 per cent of a week ago.

Treasury officials are not perturbed at the change, which they claim may be due to some tightening of money prior to Christmas.

Looking to the Future...
WITH
INTERPROVINCIAL PIPE LINE COMPANY

Interprovincial Pipe Line, already the longest in the world, is the only economic carrier transporting crude oil from our western oilfields to the expanding markets of central and eastern Canada. With a present daily intake of about 165,000 barrels and a projected capacity of more than double that figure, Interprovincial Pipe Line seems destined to
